

What is included in a single IVF or ICSI cycle?

Jessica Pittaway, Trainee Embryologist, NHS Lothian

Am I eligible for IVF/ICSI?

Find out more on the NICE Guidelines website

Where can I find a clinic?

Details of every licensed IVF clinic can be found on the HFEA website, including opening times, donor waiting times, success rates and ratings from both patients and our inspectors. It's a great place to start browsing or to find out a bit more about a clinic you have been referred to!

Should I have IVF or ICSI?

The results of your fertility tests and a consultation with one of our fertility specialists will help determine which fertility treatment is right for you. We will always work with you to make you fully aware of your treatment plan, process and pricing before you begin your treatment.

IVF	ICSI
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Damaged or blocked fallopian tubes Unexplained fertility Difficulty in ovulation Low ovarian reserve 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Low sperm count Decreased sperm motility Abnormal sperm Frozen eggs

Find out more about becoming an egg or sperm donor here!

Egg and Sperm Donation

The act of egg or sperm donation is an extraordinary gift that could potentially provide your giving parents the chance to start a family that they have always longed for.

Not everyone is able to donate. Every donor will undergo health screening to ensure no illnesses are passed onto the baby.

Edinburgh Fertility Centre,
Royal Infirmary Edinburgh
51 Little France Crescent, Edinburgh
EH16 4SA

acu@nhslothian.scot.nhs.uk

Main Reception/General Enquiries: 0131 242 2460

Edinburgh Egg and Sperm Bank: 0131 242 2464

